FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. How do I gain access to AgriDigital?

Gaining access to AgriDigital is simple. All you need to do is:

- Deliver grain into a site that is using AgriDigital
- Enter into a contract with a buyer who is using AgriDigital

You'll automatically receive an email with a link that allows you to set a password to activate and access your AgriDigital account - it's that simple!

2. What is the cost of AgriDigital?

There is no cost for you as a grower to access AgriDigital to view contracts, deliveries, invoices as well as create transfers.

3. What AgriDigital platform features will I have access to?

You will have access to the full suite of Transactions features, allowing you to view your dashboard, receive contracts, deliveries and invoices, as well as create transfers. And it's not just at harvest - you'll have access any day or time, 24/7.

4. How do I transfer my warehoused grain to a buyer?

There are two ways in which you can transfer your grain to a buyer using AgriDigital:

- Via an existing contract by going to the details screen and clicking Transfer
- Via the delivery list screen and clicking Transfer

After clicking Transfer, you'll be taken to a screen where you can select the buyer you'd like to transfer to, then select the relevant contract or enter a reference number. Then, simply select the specific deliveries and weights you'd like to transfer.

5. When will payment be received?

Payment terms are specified in your contract with each buyer. These will vary depending on the buyer and contract type. As soon as a payment is made you will receive live notification and can immediately view your RCTI and all payment information.

6. Another buyer I deal with uses AgriDigital, should I set up a new account with them?

No. All your contracts, deliveries and RCTIs are accessible via your one AgriDigital account, provided that the buyer uses AgriDigital too.
